Radicalism in England and Radical sizes, and other the same in America, meets with recognition and approval in England from John Bright and this organ, the Morning Star, and other Radical English join of the People?

Mr. Secretary of War Schofeld, at the recent Evaris dinner in New York, asserted that they are. A proposition so novel to American ears, however, and so much opposed to the almost aniversal belief in this country, will hardly be accepted as true, without examination. Our Revolutionary robels certainly did not believe in this doctrine, when they made the fact that the mother country had quartered a standing army in their midst, without their consent, one of the causes which they relied upon to justify their secession. In truth, our republic was born of the opposition to a standing army. The sufferings of the people of France, Italy and Spain, under the Bourbons; of Hungary and Lombardys, under the Austrians, and of the still more unfortunate Poles, under the founding army to standing army in the rough of the still more unfortunate Poles, under the standing army in other the Bourbons; of Hungary and Lombardy, under the Austrians, and of the still more unfortunate Poles, under the standing army in the founding armises of the people of the still more unfortunate Poles, under the iron despotism of Russia, are all due to the standing army in the rough of the still more unfortunate Poles, under the iron despotism of Russia, are all due to the bard of the still more unfortunate Poles, under the iron despotism of Russia, are all due to the bard of the still more unfortunate Poles, under the iron despotism of Russia, are all due to the bard of the still more unfortunate Poles, under the iron despotism of Russia, are all due to the bard of the still more unfortunate Poles, under the iron despotism of Russia, are all due to the bard of the still more unfortunate Poles, under the iron despotism of Russia, are all due to the bard of the still more unfortunate Poles, under the iron despotism of Rus despotism of Russia, are all due to the standing armies in the pay of the ly-

If we look to our own country, to our great beinceratic Republic alone, we can see, unfortunately, only too much cause to reject this maxim of our philosophic Secretary as a dangerous fallacy. The liberties, which our forefathers wrested from the standing army of Great Britann, in a large portion of our country. They have already been subverted through this treams. The present State given him the opportunity he has apparatus to our own country, and such are his great powers of the effects of globelighting resembly trye closely those entity long desired, of coning to nopulation with the friends of the monagement with the mon If we look to our own country, to our give him the opportunity he has appearthrough this means. The present State perous, if he can thereby bround king of the states, of the matter given by some king of the matter given by the moh what is improperly called the Union, if the mob, whatever may be thought of the mob doct is very near the truth.
